

Is the Lake Powell Pipeline Affordable?

The Lake Powell Pipeline is one of the largest new water diversions proposed in the Colorado River Basin and has created heated controversy across the American West. Dr. Gabriel Lozada and Dr. Gail Blattenberger of the University of Utah Economics Department have helped lead the discussion about the economics and financing of the proposed pipeline and its impacts upon residents slated to receive this water in southwest Utah, and on all Utah taxpayers.

Is the Pipeline Needed?

Who Will Pay for it?

Dr. Gabriel Lozada will summarize the analysis examining the financing of the Lake Powell Pipeline and its risks, impacts and long-term costs.
